Let God arise, and let His enemies be scattered;
and let them who hate Him flee from before His face.

To-day Christ, our saving Pascha, hath been revealed unto us a noble Pascha; the Pascha new and holy; the mystical Pascha; the Pascha all august; the blameless Pascha; the great Pascha; the Pascha of the faithful; the Pascha which openeth unto us the gates of paradise; the Pascha which sanctifieth all the faithful.
As smoke van- ish- eth so let them van- ish a-way; as wax melt- eth be- fore the fire.

O come from the vi- sion, ye wom- en, her- alds of good tid- ings, and say ye un- to Zi- on: Re- ceive from us the glad tid- ings of the joy of the Res- ur- rec- tion of Christ! Re- joice, - O Je- ru- sa- lem, and leap for joy, in that thou be- hold- est Christ the King like a bride- groom come forth from the grave.

So do sin- ners per- ish from be- fore the face of God; and the right- eous re- joice.
When the ointment-bearing women stood, very early in the morning, before the tomb of the Giver of Life, they found an angel sitting upon the stone, and cried out unto them saying: Why seek ye the Living among the dead? Why mourn ye the incorruptible amidst corruption? Go, proclaim the glad tidings to His Disciples!

This is the day which the Lord hath made; let us rejoice and be glad therein.
The joyful Pascha, the Pascha of the Lord, the Pascha all majestic hath shone upon us! The Pascha in which we embrace one another with joy! O what a Pascha, delivering from sorrow; for today from the tomb, as from a chamber, Christ shone, and hath filled the women with joy, saying: Proclaim the glad tidings to the Apostles!

Rejoice, O Jerusalem, and leap for joy in that thou beholdest Christ the King like a bridegroom come forth from the grave.

So do sinners perish from before the face of God and the righteous rejoice.
