

July 30th

Apostles Silas, Silvan, Crescens, Epenetos and Andronikos of the Seventy Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried"

Byzantine Mode 4
Special Melody: As one valiant

Adapted by Dn. John El Massih

- 1) Flashing bril - liant - ly with the beams of the Spir - it's en -
- 2) As the clouds did ye sprin - kle down the di - vine and ce -
- 3) As we gath - er now, let us__ bless and in song hon - or

-light - en - ment, ye went through the whole__ world, O
-les - tial rain e - ven to th ut - ter - most faith - ful - ly great and no - ble Si - las, the Saints su - preme - ly wise, and ye en - light - ened the re - gions of th earth; ye rich - ly wa - tered the wise An - dron - i - kos, blest E - pe - ne - tos and faith - ful,__ while a - bat - ing the heav - y gloom souls of__ the be - liev - ers with grace di - vine, Cres - cens, and with them__ let us all re - vere

July 30th - Apostles Silas, et. al., of the Seventy - Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried" - 2 of the deep of ig - nor - ance as A - pos - tles of smoth - er - ing the wick - ed tares which had sprout - ed from Sil - van with most fer - vent love, those true her - alds who

5

6

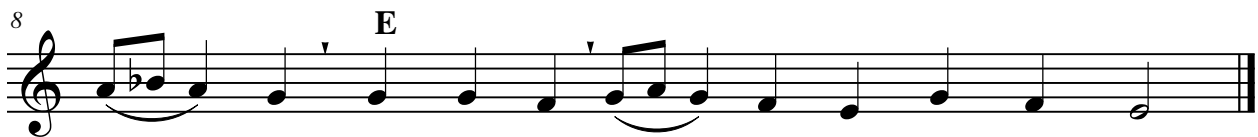

God the Word; where-fore, on this day we now joy - ous - ly god - less - ness; and ye made men's souls to bear fruit— in a - preached the Faith and un - ceas - ing - ly pour out riv - ers of 7

cel - e - brate your ho - ly and il - lus - tri - ous re -
- bun - dance. For this cause, we all now hon - or you with heal - ings which de - stroy the dire as - sault of ev - 'ry

8

-mem - brance, while gain - ing ho - li - ness for our - selves.
prais - es, O blest A - pos - tles of Christ the Lord.
 suf - f'ring by the Di - vine— Spir - it's gra - cious strength.