

October 6th

The Holy Apostle Thomas

Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried"

Byzantine Mode 4
Special Melody: As one valiant

Adapted by Dn. John El Massih

- 1) O wise Thom - as most blest of _ God, thou, on touch - ing the
- 2) By thy right faith - ful un - be - lief were be - liev - ers con -
- 3) For the faith - ful of god - ly _ mind, won - drous Thom - as un -

Mas - ter's side, didst re - ceive thē ut - ter - most
-firmed in faith, when thou didst first cry — out con -
-sealed the spring of the sav - ing doc - trines, O pin - na - cle of good; for like a sponge, thou didst

-fes - sing that in truth this was the Lord and the Mas - ter; for in truth, when he had han - dled Thy draw up — the pure wa - ters that flow from thence, God of — all cre - a - tion, Who put on flesh side, he — thence be - came — an in - i - ti - ate

October 6th - Thomas the Apostle - Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried" - 2

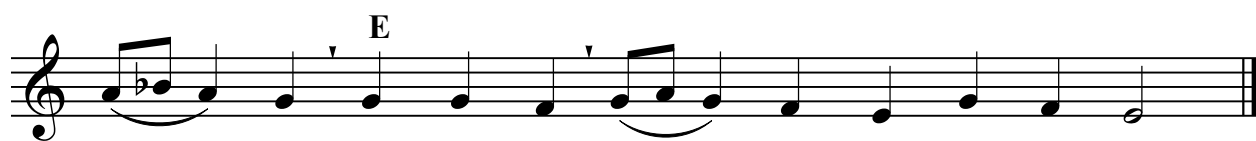

as the Fount of all good things and di - vine___ ev - er - for the sake of us on earth and Who will - ing - ly of Thy two - fold en - er - gies an - sw'ring to___ Thy two

- last - ing life, giv - ing thence to drink un - to hearts parched and un - der - went both the Cross and death and the wounds of the es - senc - es, and he cried a - loud: Thou, O Sav - ior, art hard - ened by their ig - no - rance; and thou didst well forth nails, and with a spear was al - so pierced in His di - ver - i - ly my Lord and God, Thou art the Sov - 'reign doc - trines of the div - ine___ knowl - edge of our God.

- vine___ side, from which we draw___ forth ē - ter - nal life.
Mas - ter, the Lord of Glo - ry made flesh for me.