

November 13th & January 27th

John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople

Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried"

Byzantine Mode 4
Special Melody: As one valiant

Adapted by Dn. John El Massih

- 1) Let us praise with sweet mel - o - dies John, the trum - pet of
- 2) Let us hon - or be - fit - ting - ly that bright star which doth
- 3) Let that An - gel which dwelt on earth and the man of ce - shin - ing gold; that ce - les - tial mind, — that sup - nev - er set and with rays of doc - trines en - -les - tial life wor - thi - ly be hon - ored and

-port of all the Church; the depth of wis - dom, the -light - en - eth thē earth; the man of God and the mag - ni - fied in hymns; the rock un - bro - ken, the bound - less — sea of doc - trines, the God - in - spired preach - er — of re - pen - tance; the gold - en sponge treas - ur - y of vir - tues, the man - y - toned

November 13th - John Chrysostom - Stichera at "O Lord, I have cried"- 2 and fair - sound - ing in - stru - ment; and the wine - bowl wrought which doth whol - ly wipe a - way all the mois - ture of swal - low sing - ing tune - ful - ly; thē ex - am - ple to all of gold, which doth pour a - broad might - y riv - ers of bleak de - spair and which doth be - dew and re - fresh_ hearts be - faith - ful men, all the Mar - tyr's' peer, and thē e - qual of 7

5

6

hon - ey - flow - ing teach - ings that have wa - tered all cre -
- come dried up and with - ered by much sin - ning and trans - Heav - en's ho - ly An - gels, who was one with thē A -

8

-a - tion with in - ex -haust - i - ble el - o - quence.
-gres - sion; come, let us praise_ John of gold - en speech.
 -pos - tles in way of life, e - ven Chry - sos - tom.