6) When Thou, O Jesus, wentest about beyond the Jordan in the flesh, Thou didst cry aloud to those that were with Thee: Lo, Lazarus our friend being dead, even now is given over to the grave.

For this, I am glad, My friends, for your sakes, that ye all might learn that I know all things, being perfect eternal God, though unto your sight I appear to be man alone.

Let us then go and quicken him, that death clearly may perceive his own defeat and destruction and the most perfect of victories that I shall accomplish, while bestowing My great mercy and peace upon the world.

6) Taking Martha and Mary as guides and our example, let us send forth God-pleasing works to stand as our intercessors before the Lord, that He might come to us, ye faithful, raising up our mind which terribly lieth dead in the dark tomb of heedlessness, without perception, feeling no fear of God at all,
with no vital force giving life now, and let us cry:

Lo, as Thou once didst raise up Thy friend Lazarus formerly by Thy dread power, so also do Thou, O Lord, make us all to live, O merciful Savior, while bestowing Thy great mercy and peace upon the world.
